Growing Collaboration

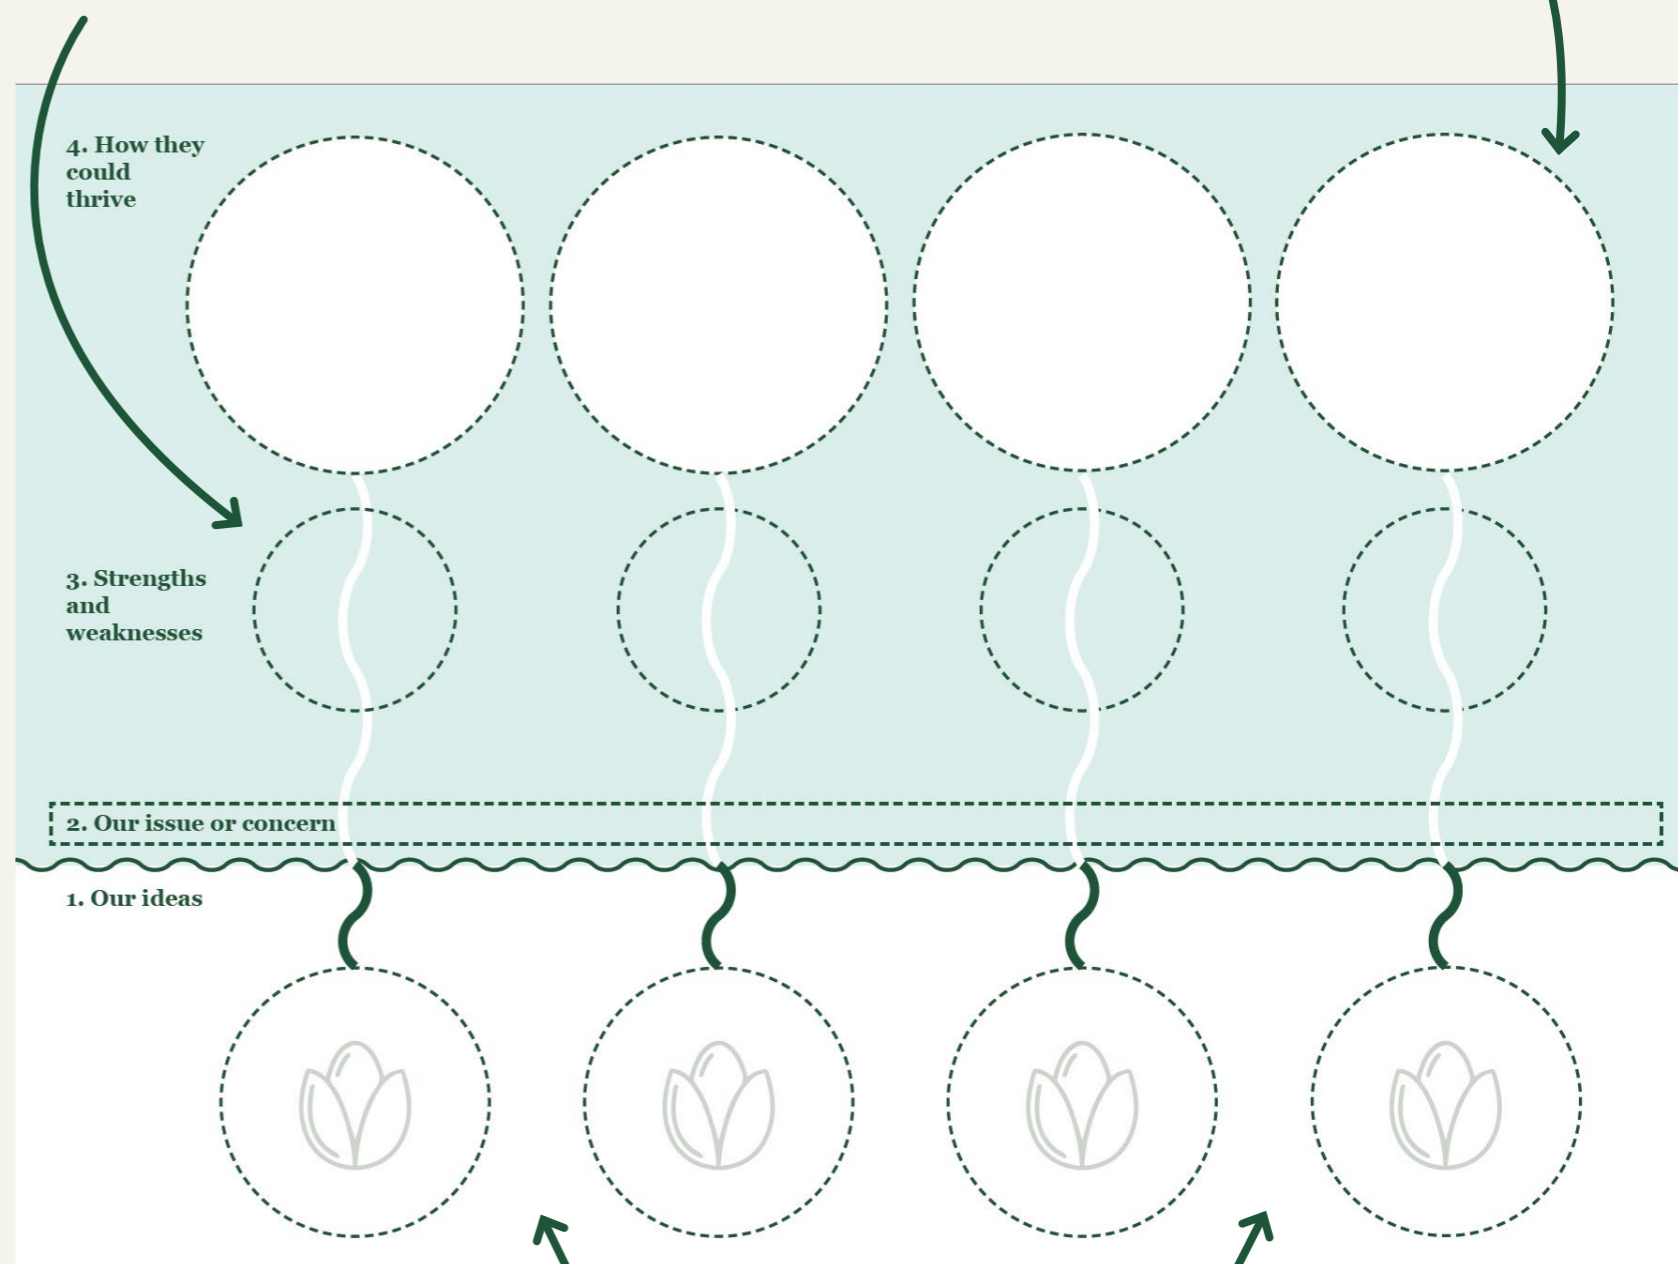

Good for generating and evaluating a broad range of ideas to address challenges within your outcome improvement process and identify steps towards achieving outcomes.

Growing Ideas can be used throughout the outcome improvement process to develop new ways to tackle complex issues. Could you introduce this tool to define the tasks and actions within your Cooperate to Innovate timeline?

Everyone has the ability to be creative, and this skill can be nurtured in collaborative settings. Use this tool to communicate and prototype ideas within your teams; share, swap, and reflect on their potential; and consider how they could grow into meaningful solutions.

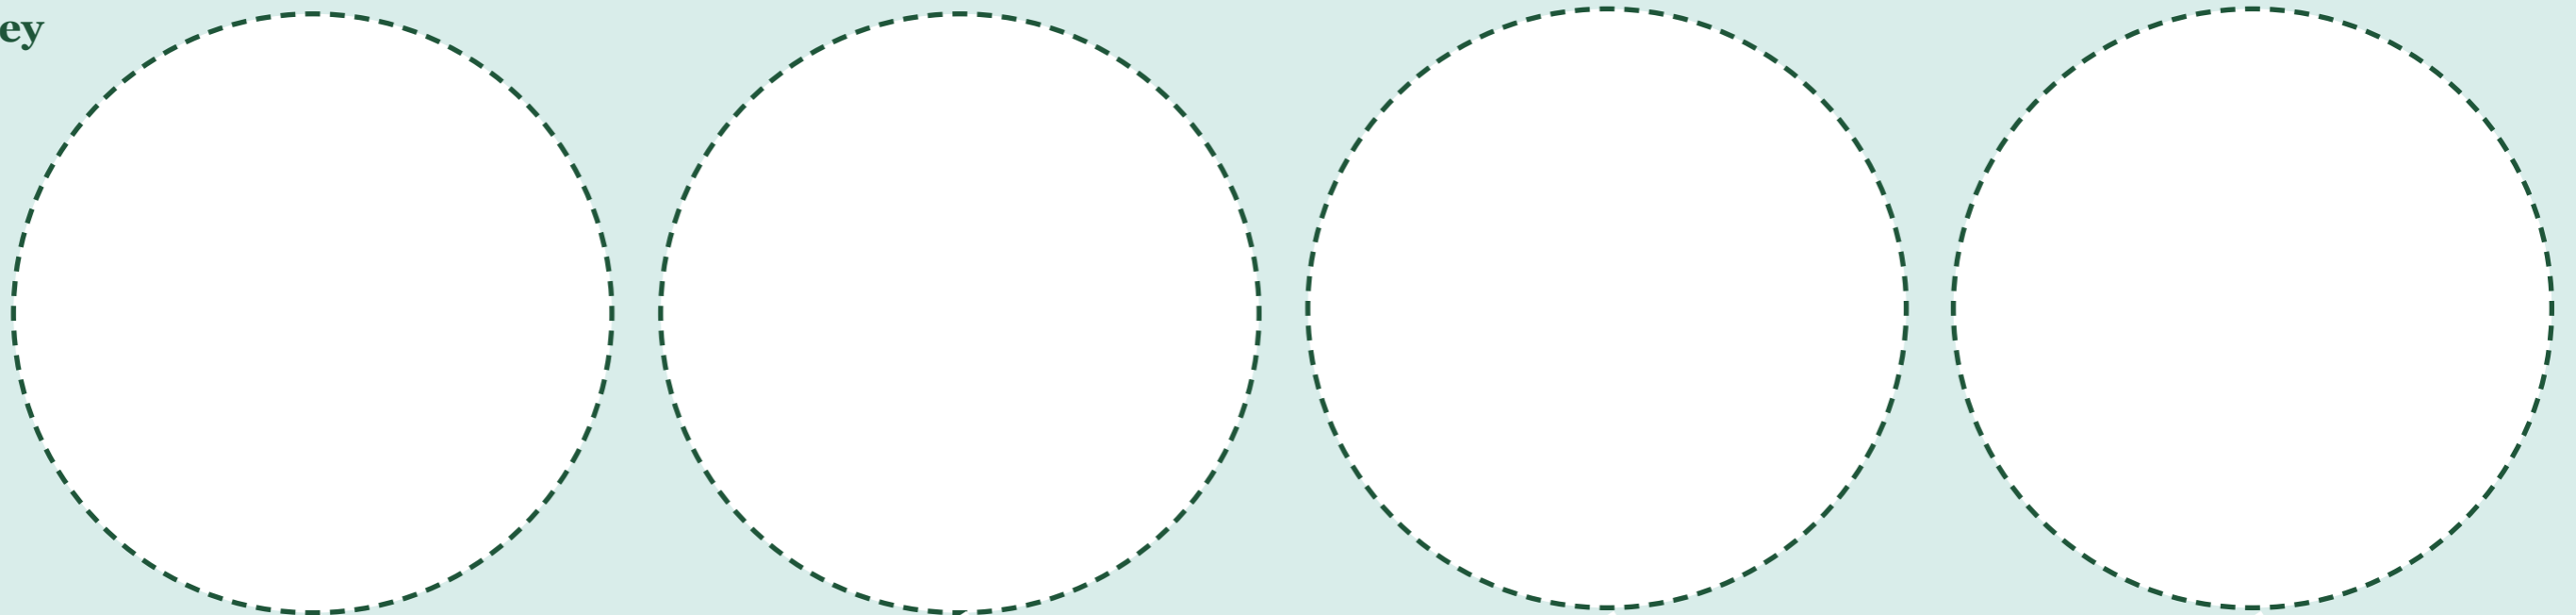

Exchange your copy of the tool with another member of your team, then critically reflect on and 'cross-fertilise' each others' ideas.
Are there any elements that could be trimmed?
Which aspects are strong and stable?

Share ideas and evaluations amongst the partnership and capture assessments on how they could be implemented in the outcome improvement process.

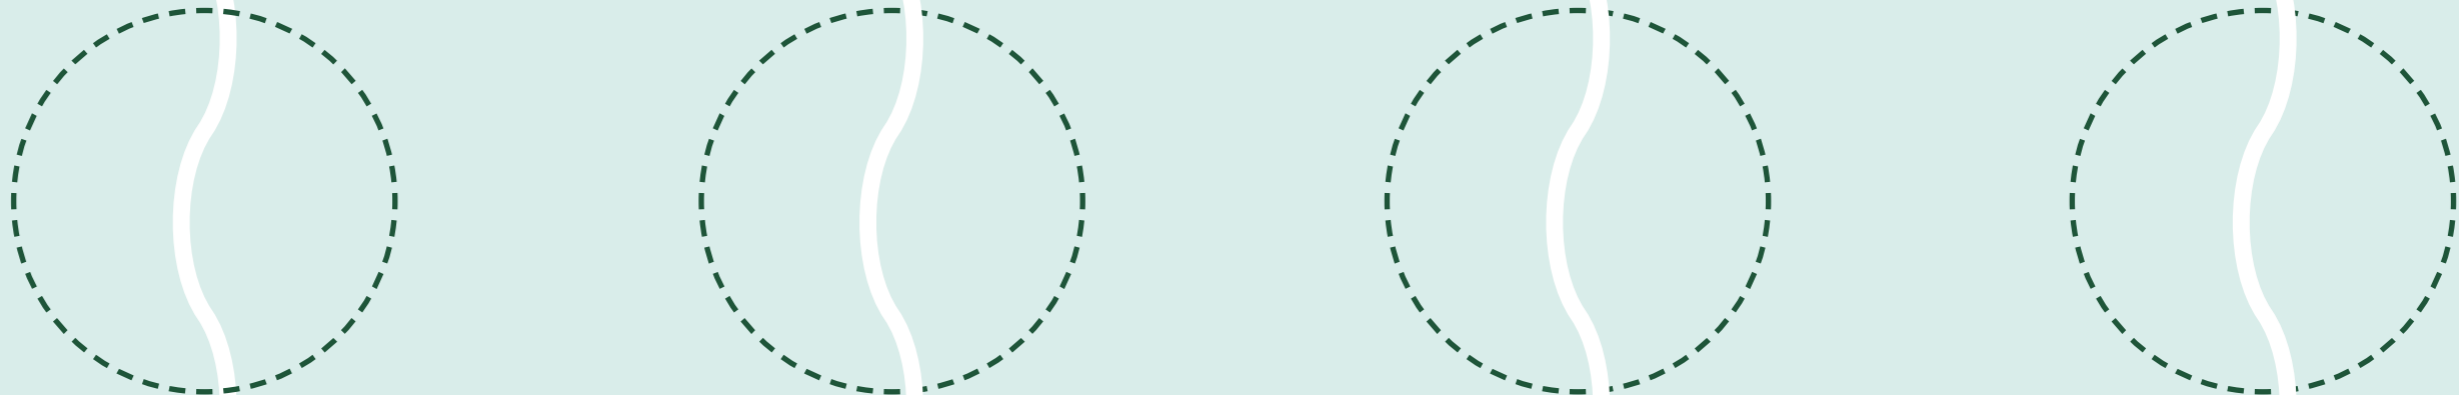

List all your ideas for the outcome improvement process – however small, underdeveloped, or infeasible they might seem. What hunches do you have? Are you aware of any approaches or methods that have been used by others that you could adapt in your own context?
